Cat Bite Fatal For Girl Of 4

OTTAWA (CP)—A four-year-old Ottawa district girl who was scratched or bitten by a rabid cat early last fall has died in hospital here.

The hospital said today that an autopsy showed rabies as the cause of Donna Darlene Featherston's death last Friday.

The girl and her mother were scratched by a stray cat at their home in nearby Richmond last October. It was destroyed.

Authorities said both were vaccinated against rabies the day of the attack.

Dr. Finlay McKerracher, assistant director of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, said today the vaccine isn't fully protective.

The incubation period for rabies is one to six months. Once symptoms appear, death always follows, usually rapidly.

Donna was admitted to hospital Friday with what at first appeared to be encephalitis. She died within hours.

The incident that led to her death occurred last October at her home in a rural district 10 miles southwest of here.

A relative said that Mrs. Dale Featherston, the victim's mother, heard Donna screaming and ran outside to find her being attacked by a stray cat.

Mrs. Featherston snatched up her daughter and ran into the house.

The cat followed and the mother was clawed while throwing it out of the house.

Dr. K. E. Martin, Richmond veterinarian, said the cat ran to a nearby house and "attacked another family."

"Someone came along and destroyed the cat right there," he said in an interview.

Jury Told Of Hypnotic Drugs In Canadian Widow's Death

LONDON (CP)—Alexa Metcalfe, Canadian-born widow of Sir Alexander Korda found dead at her country cottage in mysterious circumstances last month, was given injections by her doctor fiancé and another physician, it was stated in testimony at the Surrey inquest today.

Cause of death was given at the Woking court as poisoning from a hypnotic drug. David Metcalfe, an insurance broker with Lloyd's who married the former Alexandra Boycum of Fort William, Ont., after movie magnate Korda died in 1956, said he knew of no injections and that his wife had suffered against a piece of furniture in her Woking cottage.

Dr. Moore was Mrs. Metcalfe's fiancé and had treated her in hospital for a head injury on Oct. 6, but he had no report of whether she had been given any injections.

The girl, named in court only as "Trudi," identified hypodermic equipment and named the doctors as Dr. John Kingsmill Moore and a Dr. Ratner.

Dr. Moore was Mrs. Metcalfe's fiancé and had treated her in hospital for a head injury on Oct. 6, but he had no report of whether she had been given any injections.

Children Kept Under Wraps, Says Religious Sect's Head

ST-EUGENE, Que. (CP)—The head of a religious sect, accused of keeping children under wraps, said during the weekend that 55 children from the institution are being kept elsewhere, away from searching members of Quebec's police and welfare organizations.

Father Jean de la Trinité said 15 other children who had been living at the monastery have been located by the outside officials.

Insp. Gerard Forget of the provincial police said 20 children were found. It is believed they since have been handed over to welfare officials.

Behind the provincial actions are believed to be allegations about conditions affecting the children in the monastery at St. Jovite.

FILE OF SEARCH

But the bearded Father Jean, head of a community called Les Apôtres de l'Amour infini—the Apostles of Infinite Love—said in an interview that such allegations are incorrect and that conditions for the children suited both their educational and their general living needs.

At St. Agathe, police officers spoke of having patrolled in a search of the monastery Dec. 28, and of a general inspection of the premises—both in line with requests from the department of family and social welfare.

There were reports of some disputes between residents of the monastery, thought to number about 300 in all, and police as the operation proceeded.

Some of the monastery inhabitants were taken into custody but there was no immediate report of whether they were arraigned on any charges.

Father Jean, whose followers call themselves fundamentalist Roman Catholics, separated from Rome, vows he will go on a fast before handing over the children to provincial authorities, as "certain relatives and religious opponents" would have him do.

Insp. Forget said an all-out search for the youngsters, who apparently lived with their parents at the monastery, was under way and would continue until they could be found.

He said they were scattered across Canada and the United States, but Father Jean said they were being kept together in a safe place. There were no indications that the children had come to any harm.

St. Jovite is 20 miles north of St. Agathe, which in turn is 50 miles northwest of Montreal.

Crowds Gaze At Humiliation In Peking

PEKING (Reuters)—Big crowds stood gazing here today at poster photographs showing the humiliation of purged Communist leaders and intellectuals at the hands of the Red Guards.

The pictures, taken at recent "criticism meetings," showed some 20 men, most of them over 60, kneeling, or standing with heads bent in the firm grip of Red Guards or soldiers.

The posters, the work of Red Guard propagandists from the Peking Law Institute, were subtitled: "We show these counter-revolutionaries to the masses."

Today, three persons, rigged out in dunce's caps and hung with notices, were driven through the city in a truck loaded with Red Guards. They had slogans scrawled even on their faces, and it was impossible to distinguish who they were.

Among those shown in the posters were: Peng Chen, former Peking mayor; Lin Feng, Peoples Congress vice-chairman; Lu Ting Yi, former party propaganda chief; Lo Jui Ching, former army chief of staff; Lin Mo Han, former vice-minister of culture; Wu Leng Hsi, former head of the New China news agency and editor of the Peoples Daily; and Lu Ping, former president of Peking University.

Superjets Hit Near Hanoi

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. super-jets flew past Communist MIGs today to bomb an oil depot 14 1/2 miles from Hanoi. It was the closest major strike to the North Vietnamese capital since the controversy over civilian casualties arose last month.

A U.S. spokesman said American bombers attacked the Ha Gia fuel storage area 14 1/2 miles north-northwest of Hanoi. It has been attacked before on Dec. 2 and 5.

In forays Sunday American bombers pounded three targets 15 to 40 miles north and northwest of Hanoi, including the Viet Tri railway yard.

Ground fighting flared deep in the Mekong Delta as South Vietnamese rangers reported killing 74 Viet Cong today in a clash two miles from where government forces uncovered a massacre at a Communist prison camp.

A Vietnamese military spokesman said the Viet Cong killed 44 Vietnamese prisoners, most of them civilians, in a camp about 108 miles southwest of Saigon before they pulled out of the area in the face of advancing South Vietnamese troops.

Three Minutes Enough For Show

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Not far from the church seat of the world's Mormons, topless night-club entertainment made a brief debut Sunday night. Police said a performer went on for three minutes while dressed topless before they closed the show and took her to jail.

Anti-Mao Army Set Formed

TOKYO (AP)—One of Mao Tse-tung's mouthpieces, the theoretical journal Red Flag, reported Sunday that President Liu Shao-chi has formed a private army against Mao.

The Red Flag described Liu's force as the "army of defenders of red state power" and said it was created to protect a handful of persons practicing "bourgeois dictatorship."

It gave no details and did not say whether the army was military, paramilitary or just political in nature. But it said the 2,500,000-man Chinese army is "infinitely loyal to Chairman Mao, loyal to the people."

The article confirmed what has become increasingly apparent in the last two weeks, that Liu's men "in varying degrees still hold party, political and financial power in the localities and units in which they are entrenched."

It said they have to be rooted out, one by one, and "the positions recovered by the proletariat (Mao's supporters) have yet to be consolidated, one by one."

STRUGGLE ACUTE

Mao's publication also disclosed during the weekend that counter-revolutionary forces exist within the Chinese army and said the struggle against the usual "small hand" in positions of power was "acute and complicated." It said that "even now they are staging a counter-attack."

Two Skiers Lost In B.C.

NANAIMO (CP)—Air and ground searches for two skiers were underway in widely separated parts of British Columbia today.

More than 50 police, army and volunteer searchers aided by an RCMP helicopter and private aircraft were combing the rugged Green Mountain area near Nanaimo for novice skier Angela St. Hilaire, 19, a University of Victoria student.

And at the Apex Alpine ski area near Penitence, ski patrol and volunteer searchers were looking for Robert William Morrison, about 20, of Penitence.

Both skiers have been missing since Sunday.

Miss St. Hilaire, of Saanich, was reported missing after she became separated from a group of friends on the 4,800-foot Green Mountain.

Searchers fear she may have lost control while skiing and plunged into dense bush on the mountainside.

A. J. Pritchard, civil defence co-ordinator, said Miss St. Hilaire could be anywhere between the 4,100 and 4,700-foot levels of the mountain.

Morrison and companion Dave Johnson of Penitence were skiing an 18-mile run from Apex to Keremeos when they split up after a difference of opinion over the correct route.

Johnson came out at Hedley about 15 miles west of Keremeos.

Morrison was missing in the same area where Hugh Cameron, a Simon Fraser University student, was lost for 24 hours while skiing several weeks ago. He was rescued unharmed.

Weekend Toll Mounts To 37

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 37 persons died in accidents across Canada during the weekend, including five from carbon monoxide poisoning.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times, also showed 20 persons killed in traffic accidents, seven in fires and five in other mishaps.

At least two persons died accidentally in British Columbia during the weekend—both in the same highway accident.

The victims, both 34, were identified as Robert Irvine of Kamloops and Angelina Grace Young of 100-Mile House.

They were killed when their pickup truck skidded on ice and plunged 25 feet down an embankment from the Trans-Canada Highway, six miles east of Cache Creek, in the B.C. Interior.

A third occupant of the truck, August Vanderbergh, 45, of Kamloops, was in fair condition today with severe head cuts suffered in the accident.

Ontario reported 10 road deaths, five fire fatalities and three from carbon monoxide. One man was crushed when his car rolled against his garage and a boy was strangled when a coil-spring exerciser became tangled at his throat.

There were four road deaths in Quebec and two persons killed in falls.

TWO GASED

Two persons died in Newfoundland of carbon monoxide poisoning when their car became stuck.

Alberta and Manitoba each reported one killed in traffic and one in fire, and a Saskatchewan boy was killed when his toboggan crashed into a car.

Prince Edward Island reported no accidental fatalities.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick each had one fatality.

The survey does not include natural or industrial deaths, known suicides or slayings.

Mystery Nitro Bottle Detonated Following Kamloops Robbery

NORTH KAMLOOPS (CP)—A four-ounce bottle of nitroglycerine, discovered Sunday by a small boy, was exploded harmlessly early today by an army bomb disposal team.

A three-man army bomb disposal team from Chilliwack, 140 miles west of here in the Fraser Valley, exploded the nitroglycerine at nearby MacArthur Island.

Police were called after a child took a number of blasting caps to his home. He told his parents he found the caps in a parking lot behind a hotel.

RCMP investigated and found the bottle in the same general area where $18,000 and a loaded gun were recovered Saturday night following a grocery store holdup.

A spokesman said the child was not injured and there have been no arrests in connection with the robbery.

BOTH WEARY

Mrs. Kennedy is reported to have told Manchester she remembered thinking they were both so weary that they were really supporting each other "like a couple of bookends."

They could not stay together because the double mattress was removed and replaced by a single board to support the president's back. He suffered from a wartime back injury.

Another passage said Mrs. Kennedy said good night and went out, and that she was separated from him.

The same episode was more briefly mentioned in the Look version published last week.

The passages cut by Look and printed by Stern this week were short. One described a scene in a Fort Worth hotel the night before the Dallas assassination. The president, tired and suffering from a stomach ache, was described as wearing a blue and white nightgown, and embracing his wife at length in the middle of the room before they parted for the night.

It again published passages deleted by Look from Death of a President at Mrs. Kennedy's request.

Mrs. Kennedy asked for the cuts on the grounds they concerned only personal matters, but sources close to Stern said it regarded the issue as one of censorship and resisting political pressure.

U Thant Pleads For Restraint As Mid-East Tensions Build

TEL AVIV (AP)—Foreign Minister Abba Eban warned today Israel cannot tolerate any more "aggressive acts" by Syria and that it has "both the will and the strength to halt the activities."

Speaking to foreign correspondents in Jerusalem, Eban repeated an Israeli offer for an informal emergency meeting of the Syrian-Israel mixed armistice commission to discuss outstanding issues, but said "shooting and bombing has first to stop to make such a meeting possible."

UN Secretary-General U Thant appealed to both Syria and Israel to restrain their military forces, warning that a large-scale clash could result from continuing tension along their border.

Thant's appeal, sent to the two governments Sunday, said he had received word of a big military buildup along the border from Lt.-Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of staff of the United Nations truce supervision organization in Palestine.

Eban said the buildup "was originally caused by Syrians establishing tanks and heavy armor in defensive areas on the Syrian side of the border and by activation of their arms against Israel. . . . We are compelled also to bring tanks into our defensive area reluctantly, but inevitably."

Deployment of troops, heavy armor and armored vehicles along the 50-mile-long border area was reported as daily violence continued along the frontier.

An Israeli army spokesman announced today that a water aqueduct leading to Idmit, a village in upper Galilee, was blown up Sunday night.

Israel accused Syria of opening fire Sunday on an Israeli fishing boat in the Sea of Galilee. The Israeli side returned the fire, an army spokesman said, but there was no mention of casualties.

Israel also blamed Syrian infiltrators for planting mines in a soccer field at the village of Dishon near the Lebanese border Friday night. One of the mines killed a spectator and injured two players.

Pressure mounted on Premier Levi Eshkol's government for a retaliatory action. Israeli sources estimate there are 10,000 Syrian troops along the border.

Thant's message urged the two nations to accept a proposal for an emergency meeting of the mixed armistice commission to settle their dispute over cultivation of the demilitarized zone. Israel has boycotted the commission since 1954, saying it has no jurisdiction over the zone and that the zone belongs to it, but the Syrians say it is no man's land. A UN report last November backed Arab charges that Israel has expelled Arab farmers from the zone and taken it over for cultivation.

SEVEN CHILDREN AND MOTHER KILLED BY FIRE IN QUEBEC

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—A mother and her seven children were killed today in a fire which swept through a home here.

The father, Robert Alarie, escaped the flames by jumping from a second-storey balcony. He was burned, not severely, trying to save his family.

Dead are Mrs. Alarie and her children—Michel, 11, Sylvie, 8, Jeannine, 7, Renée, 5, Rene, 3, Robert, 2, and Rejean, 1.

The family lived on the second floor of the frame home.

Mr. Alarie's mother, who lived on the first floor, escaped injury. The fire is reported to have followed an explosion in a stove.

Trois-Rivieres is on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River about 80 miles northeast of Montreal.

MAYOR CAMPBELL WANTS CONTROL OF VANCOUVER POLICE CHIEFS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Tom Campbell announced Sunday he will seek an amendment to the city charter to give city council control of the police commission.

This is his latest move in a running battle with the commission over its refusal last Thursday to give him a copy of the Murray report—a secret investigation of the police department completed by city lawyer George Murray in 1965.

Under the present charter, three police commissioners are appointed by the attorney-general's department and the mayor is automatically chairman.

Mayor Campbell said the present system was set up to keep the commission out of local politics, but it is now a political tool of the provincial government.

ALGOMA READIES FOR PRODUCTION

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Steel mills and coke ovens at the giant Algoma Steel Corp. Ltd. plant were prepared for production today after the surprise settlement Sunday of a strike by 80 bricklayers.

But threat of a new strike by members of Local 606, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Local 611, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, continues to plague Algoma.

The company is negotiating with the two unions over a new contract and the members could be in position to go on strike in a month if talks are unsuccessful.

North Vietnam's leader, Ho Chi-Minh, above, has said there can be no thought of peace discussions with the United States until the bombing of his country stops. This was reported today by Pastor Demulier, one of three Protestant clergymen who went on a peace mission to Red China and North Vietnam. Today American planes again attacked the north, hitting an oil dump near Hanoi.

Russian Build-up Noted Across China's Border

Vice-Premier Marshal Yeh Chien-ying indicated in Peking that Russia is building troop strength near the Chinese border, the New China news agency reported Sunday. Addressing a meeting in honor of a visiting Albanian military delegation, Marshal Yeh stated that "the Soviet revisionist leading clique is aiming its military strategy towards the east and is intensifying its military build-up against China."

The Nigerian government officially confirmed that Maj. Gen. Johnson T. Aguiyi-Ironsi, who headed the country's military government after Nigeria's first coup in January, 1966, was killed during a second coup in July. The announcement said news of the general's death—widely suspected when the coup occurred—was withheld because of the country's situation at the time. Ironsi, a 42-year-old professional soldier, was generally regarded as a reluctant military ruler.

Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia hinted again in

The Vancouver Province says Victoria lawyer William R. McIntyre, 48, will take his seat as the newest member of the British Columbia Supreme Court next week. The newspaper said Mr. McIntyre's appointment is "expected to be confirmed today" by Justice Minister Garfield. The appointment would fill a vacancy created by the resignation through ill-health of Mr. Justice F. K. Collins, 73, of Vancouver.

Rhodesian political sources Sunday reported secret moves to form a new party to challenge the dominance of Premier Ian Smith's white-minority Rhodesian Front. The sources said moves to form a new alliance—provisionally called the Reconstruction party—with policies somewhat to the left of the Rhodesian Front, have been going on for two weeks. Smith's party reportedly has been reported racked by internal strife, despite an outward show of unity.

Prime Minister Wilson of Britain and his foreign secretary, George Brown, arrived in Rome Sunday night to start a series of meetings aimed at judging Britain's chances of entering the European Common Market.

And in Menlo Park, Calif., some sooty research has convinced five-year-old David Blinn that Santa Claus couldn't make it down a chimney. David got up on the roof to retrieve a cork from his pop gun. He saw the chimney, remembered Santa and went in, feet first. His mother, Mrs. William Blinn, saw David's legs appear in a cloud of soot in the fireplace—and dangle there. She and a neighbor tried to pull him out, then called the fire department. Firemen dropped a looped rope down the chimney and pulled him up. "No man could get down that chimney," declared David.

A Scottish court was told in Edinburgh that William McDonald, a former prisoner, was nabbed into a jail to deliver Christmas gifts to a friend and was nabbed on the way out. McDonald pleaded guilty to breaking and giving a prisoner cigarettes, beer and candy. He was fined $5 ($15).

Marcel Lambert, former Commons Speaker and Conservative cabinet minister who was captured in the 1942 raid on Dieppe, said Sunday he sees no reasons why German veterans should not attend this year's 25th anniversary ceremonies at Dieppe, said in Ottawa. "After all, it all took place 25 years ago. Perhaps having the Germans attend would be a step in the right direction towards better understanding. Some people seem to be getting a little hysterical about the idea."

About 200,000 Quebec Students Miss School During Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — About 217,000 students in Montreal's 500 strike-bound Roman Catholic schools are missing classes again today, but Sunday night brought word from Quebec City of increased provincial government concern with the situation.

Education Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand and Marcel Masse, a minister without portfolio attached to the education department, held late-night consultations with other top officials of the department.

The cabinet is expected to meet tonight to hear a report by Mr. Bertrand on the strike by 9,000 French- and English-speaking teachers, which began Friday.

Mr. Masse told reporters that the government "will have to intervene when the common good is threatened."

Weekend negotiations in Montreal aimed at ending the strike fizzled out Sunday night. There were signs of bitterness on both sides.

One union official said a grim picture of about 120 contract clauses yet to be discussed.

Two Of Richest U.S. Families Seek Better East-West Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller brothers and Cyrus Eaton Jr., representing two of the richest families in the U.S., plan to build a better trade bridge between the Western Hemisphere and Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

The financial alliance, linking Wall Street and the Midwest, was disclosed Sunday and confirmed by Richard Aldrich of the Rockefeller interests.

It will involve co-operation between the International Basic Economy Corp., controlled by the Rockefeller brothers, and Tower International Inc., headed by Eaton, a Cleveland industrialist.

Eaton's father was born in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Aldrich, a vice-president and director of IBEC, said his organization's objective "is to improve the standard of living of the peoples of the world," adding:

"An initiative that creates a commercial and industrial dialogue between the East and the West cannot help but contribute to this end."

When he was asked how long the work stoppage might go on, anxious parents already have appealed to the Quebec government for action. The teachers want higher salaries and other work improvements.

Mr. Bertrand has promised not to let the situation "deteriorate" but apparently wanted negotiators to have a good crack at settling the strike without government intervention.

The negotiators for the Montreal Catholic school commission and two unions bargaining jointly for the teachers got together several times Saturday and Sunday.

But Sunday night the teachers rejected a commission suggestion for an attempted strike settlement through mediation. The commission stipulated that the mediation, by either one man or three, should include a public report.

OBJECT TO REPORT — The union objected to the report stipulation, saying it indicated the commission sought a "public tribunal" rather than a mediation process. Mediation has to be carried on in secret, the unions said.

Von Thadden To Be Seen On CBC But He's Not Going To Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Daryl Duke, producer of the CBC television program Sunday, says an interview with Adolf von Thadden, controversial West German politician, will appear on the program despite a decision not to bring him to Toronto.

CBC President J. Alphonse Quimet said in Ottawa Saturday that the CBC had withdrawn an invitation to von Thadden to come to Canada.

The CBC was trying to "make other arrangements to interview Mr. von Thadden for television in a way which will not involve bringing him to Canada," he said.

Von Thadden is vice-chairman of the West German National Democratic Party, which denies charges that it is a neo-Nazi organization.

Mr. Duke said Sunday he would not give details of how von Thadden was to be interviewed, "but I repeat—Mr. von Thadden will appear on the program Sunday, a week next Sunday, Jan. 22."

CITES THREATS — Mr. Quimet said in his statement that "mounting threats of violence involving public safety" had forced the CBC to withdraw the invitation. The corporation had reluctantly concluded "that it can't bring Mr. von Thadden to Canada without undue risk to his safety and that of others."

Mr. Duke said he was "very seriously alarmed" that a minority group could bring pressure to bear to such effect that Canadian television viewers might be "deprived of their searching, thoughtful interview with a man in the news."

A pressure group takes action and we find the rug pulled from under our feet with so much till to be learned.

"For example, how big is the opposition? Just what threat to Mr. von Thadden's safety is involved?"

"Are we to presume that the Metropolitan Toronto police and the RCMP could not provide him with safe entry to and exit from Canada?"

EXPLAINS INVITATION — The invitation to von Thadden brought a storm of protest when it was announced and the Canadian Jewish Congress said it would mount a "massive demonstration."

In his statement, Mr. Quimet said the invitation was "based on the rise of Mr. von Thadden's party in Germany as reported in the news media recently."

"The greatest safeguard of the democratic tradition is the freedom to express and exchange the widest range of ideas and opinions," he said in defending the invitation.

CARRYING ON FAMILY THEATRICAL TRADITION

Professor Klaus Strassman of the theatre department discussing costumes used in the Canadian premiere of Red Magic, which Mr. Irwin directed. Mr. Irwin's father, Ronald, was an active member of the Kelowna Little Theatre and a member of the Kelowna Community Theatre Committee. His mother, a charter member of the Kelowna Little Theatre, produced Speaking of Murder in Kelowna only a few days before Mr. Irwin's Red Magic began its Vancouver run. See story below.

Winter Reading Popular December Figures Show

Winter reading is more popular this year, according to a report from the Kelowna branch of the Okanagan Regional Library.

During December a total of 14,371 books were loaned to readers, a rise of 915 for the same month in 1965.

Both the adult and juvenile departments showed increases in the number of books borrowed. There were 10,149 books taken from the adult department, up 590 and 4,222 from the juvenile section, up 325.

The adult total includes 3,941 non-fiction and 6,208 fiction books.

Gordon Ray, branch librarian, has reviewed a few of the non-fiction books added to the library shelves during December.

North American Indian Mythology, by Cottie Burland, presents various groups of North American Indians, describes the principal gods and heroes of their mythology and recounts typical beliefs of each region.

Incident at Exeter, by John Fuller, is the story of unidentified flying objects over America. According to the book, the first report of the rash of flying saucer sightings was in Exeter, New Hampshire in September, 1965.

The history of the development of Canadian painting, from the 17th century to today, is told by Russell Harper in Painting in Canada.

A new book of poetry by Russian writer, Yevgeny Yevtushenko, covers such topics as history, love, loneliness, Stalinism, anti-semitism and Russia. The text is in Russian and English.

Foot Of New Snow Hits RP Most Other Highways Good

Twelve inches of new snow was reported on the Rogers Pass at 8 a.m. today by the department of highways in Kelowna.

The temperature on the pass was 26 degrees and some slippery sections were reported.

From Banff to Calgary the road was bare. There were heavy winds.

The Allison Pass, on the Hope-Princeton Highway, had some compact snow and slippery sections. The road was mostly bare at Keremeos with slippery sections. At Hedley the road was wet.

Highway 97, from Penticton to Vernon was bare and dry. The Kelowna-Benvenuto Road had compact snow. Winter tires or chains were required. There was compact snow at Lumby and Cherryville and on the Monashee Highway. Slippery sections were reported between Vernon and Cherryville.

The Fraser Canyon was bare and good, with slight delays reported two miles south of Yale, due to blinding. Motorists were advised to watch for rolling rock.

At Kamloops and Salmon Arm, the road was mostly bare with icy sections. At Sicamous there was some compact snow, some bare sections and some ice. At Revelstoke the road was mostly bare with some compact snow and rough sections.

Unsettled . . .

Sunny periods this morning were expected to give way to clouds this afternoon and Tuesday, with occasional snow flurries predicted.

The weatherman said temperatures should also be cooler, dropping to a low of 70 over night and not expected to rise above freezing Tuesday.

Spring-like weather was enjoyed Sunday, with a high of 49. Although temperatures were also mild nearly an inch and a half of snow fell.

Weekend temperatures were comparable to those recorded on the same days last year, when a high of 49 was reached.

Playwright From Kelowna Records First

Michael Irwin, of Kelowna, first graduate student in Canada to submit the production of a play as his thesis project, is expected to receive one of the University of B.C.'s first master of theatre degrees in the spring.

The Canadian premiere of Michel de Ghelderode's Red Magic, which was presented within a $300 budget and 90 hours of rehearsal time is due soon. Last year at UBC he directed another premiere performance, that of David Watmough's play Friedhof.

At UBC in 1958 Mr. Irwin received his bachelor of arts in English and history with elective courses in theatre. As an undergraduate he was active in the Player's Club and on graduation won a year's Canada Council Scholarship to the Goodman Theatre School in Chicago.

He returned to B.C. to teach at Quesnel and then to take teacher's training at UBC.

Before enrolling in the master's program on a UBC graduate fellowship he taught in Calgary and at Vancouver's David Thompson.

Theatre runs in the family for his father, the late Ronald Irwin, was an active member of the Kelowna Little Theatre and on the Kelowna Community Theatre Committee. His mother is a charter member of the little theatre and her production Speaking of Murder ended in Kelowna just a few days before Red Magic began.

In addition to acting and producing in live theatre, Mr. Irwin has played small parts on Vancouver radio and television. He enjoys building and designing sets and during summer months has worked on sets for the CBC and the UBC theatre department.

He attended school in Kelowna and directed his first play in high school. The Kelowna school had a good radio and drama club under teachers Frank Bishop and Don Wood.

He prefers the country to the city and last summer ran the family's orchard in Kelowna.

He would like to teach at a university or college and is considering going on to a doctorate degree.

All Valley Growers Convention Bound?

Labor Resolution Key BCFGA Issue

Orchard labor problems in the Okanagan will probably light much of the discussion as delegates to the BCFGA convention settle in to three days of work in Kelowna.

At least three resolutions touching on the labor problems will be presented for consideration during the convention including one asking a withdrawal of immigration restrictions on unskilled workers.

The resolution says the federal government has practically closed down the immigration of unskilled laborers and of particular concern to growers are those agricultural workers which are considered unskilled under immigration regulations.

Another resolution will seek investigation of the possibility of labor camps or subsidized labor accommodation, lack of which was blamed for a labor shortage particularly in North Okanagan orchards.

A third resolution pertaining to workers during the harvest time requests that "very temporary" farm labor be excluded from the Canada Pension Plan and income tax for up to 60 days or $500 if the employee desires.

Reporting to the convention will be the BCFGA orchard labor committee which will outline efforts made toward easing the labor problem during the past year.

The committee was also expected to make certain recommendations most of which will probably be contained in resolutions to be presented.

A total of 36 resolutions will be considered during the three days and will deal with all aspects of the fruit industry.

Also expected to be discussed in some detail was the crop insurance scheme available to growers for the first time this year.

'See At Least One Session' Urges BCFGA Head, Claridge

B.C. Fruit Growers Association President Allan Claridge today issued an appeal to every Valley grower to attend "at least one session" of the BCFGA convention.

The three-day convention begins in Kelowna Tuesday at the Aquatic.

On the eve of the 78th annual convention, Mr. Claridge asked the participation of all growers because "the convention is the growers' parliament and the growers' business is conducted there."

Mr. Claridge estimated there will be a daily attendance of more than 250 people. But, because some people attend only one or two sessions, the three-day total attendance will likely be much higher.

MANY OFFICIALS

There will be 70 voting delegates at the meeting. In addition, industry officials, provincial and federal representatives of the department of agriculture, and most growers will attend.

One of the key points of discussion, Mr. Claridge says, will be the new crop insurance program for growers.

Registration takes place Tuesday at 9 a.m.

The convention's formal opening, with a welcoming address by Mr. Claridge, is scheduled for 10 a.m.

Frank Richter, B.C.'s minister of agriculture, will speak at 10:15 a.m.

SEVERAL REPORTS

The executive's report, the auditor's report and financial statement, the election of the auditor and committees' reports follow at 10:45 a.m.

On Tuesday afternoon, the meeting gets under way at 1:30 p.m. with the credentials committee's report.

The B.C. Tree Fruits report, followed by a question session, is scheduled for 1:40 p.m. BCF resolutions will be heard at 3:45 p.m.

Tuesday night at 8 p.m., pooling committees' reports and resolutions on pooling are scheduled.

Southern Trip Is Cancelled

A scheduled South Seas tour, planned especially for fruit growers, has been cancelled.

An airline spokesman said in Kelowna today lack of response forced cancellation of the tour, which was scheduled to include Hawaii, New Zealand and Australia.

The tour, as well as a holiday, was planned with particular emphasis on visits to fruit industry focal points in the three countries.

The growers were to have left Vancouver Wednesday.

Meanwhile, British Columbia Fruit Growers Association delegates begin their annual convention in Kelowna Tuesday.

Jaycee Week Spotlights Kelowna Group

Jaycee Week in Canada is being marked in Kelowna by the Junior Chamber of Commerce with a week-long publicity campaign and a wind-up celebration banquet.

Jaycee Week started Sunday and officially continues until Jan. 21. But in Kelowna, the Jaycees are extending their week to Jan. 24 when a special meeting is scheduled.

As part of the program to make the public more aware of Jaycees, a special display has been set up in a window at the Kelowna Centre on Bernard Avenue.

The display shows some of the awards held by the Kelowna and district Jaycee.

The Jan. 24 banquet will be held at the Royal Anne Hotel at 6:30 p.m.

Mayor R. E. Parkinson, the charter president of the Kelowna Jaycee unit, will be the guest speaker.

Jaycee president, is issuing a public invitation to anyone interested in Jaycees to attend the meeting. An outline of work projects completed by Jaycees will be made during the meeting.

The Kelowna Jaycees, then called the Junior board of trade, began in 1936 under the direction of an organizing committee made up of Mayor Parkinson, Less Kerry, Bill Guernard, Fred Tutt and Don Fillmore.

The first general meeting was held April 22, 1936 and 100 people became members during the first year.

Some of the early Jaycee projects included: paint up and clean up campaign, school boy patrols, street mail boxes, city house numbering, first aid classes and blood donor groups.

The Kelowna Jaycees also sponsored the formation of the Kelowna and Revelstoke Jaycees.

Jaycee membership remained above the 100 mark until the Second World War when it dropped to about 50. But Jaycee projects continued throughout the war years, carried on by men unable to serve actively in the war.

In 1943, Kelowna hosted the first B.C. Jaycee convention. The Jaycees also took an active part in the first Lady-of-the-Lake contest—a project they carried on until 1950s when the contest became too large for the Jaycees to handle.

During the war, the Jaycees raised $1,000 for the war effort with a salvage drive.

The Jaycees also did some preliminary work on the City Centre Committee, organized the first film council in 1945, sponsored a VJ street dance, remembered homes for mail delivery, restarted the school patrol and set up the first scenic route in 1946.

After the war, membership again rose to more than 100 members and stayed in this bracket for 10 years. Since then, other service clubs have been started here, and Jaycee membership has settled to an annual average of 40 men.

Mosquito control was one project started by the Jaycees. In the beginning, members did the actual spraying. The city now is in charge of mosquito control.

In 1948 the Jaycees were pushing for an Okanagan Lake bridge. They also played an active role in obtaining licensed members for Kelowna, organized the first Kelowna participation in the Miss Canada contest, ran get out and vote campaign and conducted effective speaking courses.

In 1957 the Jaycees held a provincial convention here, followed by a national convention in 1967. The first time a national Jaycee meeting had been held in a small city.

The Jaycees are also assisting Salmon Arm to start a new unit.

Two night school courses, effective public speaking and how to conduct meetings, are being sponsored by the Jaycees this winter.

Canada Plays Important Role In United Nations

Most Canadians, when they get around to it, wonder if the United Nations organization is effective at all, and, if so, does Canada play any important role in that organization. We use the word "most" because there are only 8,000 members in the United Nations Association in Canada and it must be concluded that the several million Canadians who are not members are indifferent.

The 80 Kelownians who bothered to attend the Canadian Club meeting on Thursday night were rewarded by receiving an answer to their questions from Mr. Trueman, director of the United Nations Association in this country.

Mr. Trueman directed his attention specifically to the peace-keeping efforts of the United Nations, pointing out that in the last eight years there had been 164 international clashes in which the UN had mediated and in 21 years in 21 cases had provided peace-keeping forces. Two or three of these could have developed into a third world war, had not the UN stepped in, he said.

As for Canadians, although he did not use the word, he described them as ciphers in world affairs. They frustrated their friends who said they "want their cake and to eat it too", and were brushed off as of little account by the other camp. They puzzled the uncommitted nations by their apparent vacillations.

Yet this nonentity, this deep grayish appearance, actually was one of their principal sources of strength among the people of the world. They are trusted by most; they are distrusted by few as they have no ax to grind.

Mr. Trueman enumerated several reasons for Canada's influence at the UN, which is greater than would appear warranted. For instance our geographical position is such that we have no bush-fire areas, no border troubles and so we can look on such affairs in other parts of the world dispassionately, without prejudice, and thus make excellent unbiased referees.

Of all the people at the UN, Canadians are perhaps the best suited for the vital business of peace-keeping. We have had more experience than any other nation having participated in all the 21 policing activities in 21 years. No other nation has had this experience.

Canadians as a group have no special hatreds, no special fears. No other nation has any special hatred of us or any special fear of us. This makes us ideal for peace-keeping. Canadians are tolerated and, sometimes, respected.

We have material wealth, but not excessively so. We have no worldwide ambitions of a military, colonial or economic nature.

We have had no part of the new colonialism which is a heavy financial investment in any of the developing areas. It might be said, we are the victims of the new colonialism, rather than the reverse.

Two official languages, French and English, also play a role in our effectiveness in UN peace-keeping activities. As a result Canada can supply troops who speak either or both and thus communicate with most peoples of the world.

However, important as all these points are in making Canada effective in the UN peace-keeping role, the most important reason remains is the availability of efficient, co-ordinated forces which can be quickly placed at the disposal of the UN.

Mr. Trueman, cautiously but definitely, expressed the opinion that the unification of the forces which is now taking place in Canada will give this country a hard-hitting, fast-moving force which "can get anywhere first with the most", and thus make Canada the only country in the world whose armed forces fit UN peace-keeping specifications perfectly.

"If the object of defence—as the word implies—is to prevent war through preparedness and the maintenance of some kind of deterrent, then I firmly believe that the new Canadian armed forces will be of greater service to peace than a whole lot of ICBMs with nuclear warheads," he said.

If Mr. Trueman did nothing else, he did suggest that Canada does play an important part in the United Nations, a more important part than is generally realized. In a very real way, we as Canadians mean a great deal to the United Nations. It depends on us more than most of us realize.

Mr. C. E. Sladen Speaks

At a meeting of the board of School District No. 23 on Thursday, Mr. C. E. Sladen expressed his feelings in no uncertain terms about the present situation of the Okanagan Regional College. Mr. Sladen has been appointed the district's representative on the college council during the illness of Mr. Charles Buckland.

This newspaper does not quarrel with Mr. Sladen's right to say what he said, nor does it necessarily quarrel with his opinions, but it does question his wisdom of saying it.

Obviously Mr. Sladen wants a college established; he even advocates District 23 going it on its own. In our opinion he is adopting a very poor approach to having a valley college established.

The late lamented voting incident is over and done with. What possible good can come from Mr. Sladen's tirade against Vernon? Surely Mr. Sladen knows—the certainly should—that college matters are not quite as quiet as they may seem; things are moving quietly behind the scenes.

Why then stir up a fire which is beginning to die down; a fire which could burn the house down?

Mr. Sladen's opinions are his own and he has a right to them, but he was injudicious in expressing them publicly. True, he was talking to a Kelowna school board meeting, but, equally true he was aware that his remarks could not be kept secret and would only generate antagonism in Vernon.

Mr. Sladen unfortunately is the representative of this school district on the college council. Of what possible use can he be? He has already stated his stand and he has already created antagonism among some of his fellow members on the college council. He can be of little use to this school district or to the college council during the difficult days ahead for that body; days when tolerance, understanding and co-operation will be vital.

As long as Mr. Sladen represents District 23, the district will have no effective representation on the college council. The board should reconsider its appointment.

Big Cities Fighting Hard To Get Smoke Out Of Eyes

NEW YORK (AP) — In the three largest cities of the United States, more than 5,500,000 auto and 400,000 smoke stacks vent their fumes into everybody's air.

New York, Chicago and Los Angeles are fighting hard against being stifled in their own smoke. But there are days when some of their citizens don't know where their next breaths are coming from.

It poses a question that no one can really answer: How long before American cities become unlivable and unbearable because of smog?

The more people who live in a given area, the more power they demand in electricity and gasoline, the greater is the potential for a smog disaster.

Few experts will hazard a prediction as specific as one made by Frank M. Stead, California's environmental sanitation chief, who said that within 14 years his state's air will be taxed beyond its ability to absorb auto exhaust. He wants a ban on all gasoline-powered cars by 1980.

All that most experts take to be the hard facts are the statistics on energy consumption by their areas. How much coal, gas and gasoline are burned and vented into the air?

Then, when windless weather conditions arise and temperature inversions put a lid on their cities, they know how much smoke each hour is being pumped into the area where they live.

When a city becomes unlivable depends on how much smoke accumulates, on how long before the foul air damages eyes, noses, bronchial tubes and lungs. The weakest—the elderly and those with breathing troubles—are the first to feel the sting.

Whatever the time element, most cities have some sort of emergency plan—from bans on auto travel and smoke stack restrictions to fuel- and trash-burning limits. Much of the trouble can be avoided by keeping people, especially those with respiratory troubles, indoors or in air-conditioned buildings.

In between smog attacks, cities with progressive programs to fight pollution have already taken inventories of their smoke-producing sources and begun programs to force air polluters to install smoke-cleansing devices and modernize furnaces to provide more complete burning and thus less smoke.

But they are fighting a tough war and the victories are small. In some cases, the energy needs of the population are increasing smoke faster than pollution experts can cut it down.

When pollution problems become severe, cities stop growing and lose population, and this reduces the energy-needs and the smoke.

Austin N. Heller, air pollution chief for New York, attempted to explain how he would build a smog-free city.

With the tall spires of Manhattan rising on all sides of his 14th-story office, he said: "First of all, I guess, I'd build a horizontal city, not a vertical one. I'd spread out the population, and I'd put a limit on the view from his window and the height of buildings."

He waved his hand at the view from his window and the 8,000,000 people who line their view with their 210,000 cars and more than 1,000,000 cars.

"I'd have central heating units too," he said, making for fewer smoke stacks to control.

And he would rely on hydroelectric plants and nuclear energy to produce the power the city uses.

"I'd preclude the use of cars in shopping areas. There'd be underground parking around the periphery of the city, and people would get around on moving sidewalks or some other means of pedestrian transportation."

"I'd have garbage grinders and flush that sort of garbage into a sanitary sewer system. And then I'd have underground conveyor belts to move dry refuse out of the city where it can be compacted and buried, a sort of sewer for trash."

Meanwhile the air over the cities receives its daily quota of smoke and most often carries it away. As the smoky air disperses, the heavy matter falls to the ground as soot and the gases are washed out by rain and absorbed and converted by chemical reaction on the ground. The air comes back fresh again, only to receive still another load of smog from people who only began to breathe.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Peace Feelers Not Too Speedy

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign News Analyst

Peace in Vietnam will not be negotiated quite so soon as the current, hopeful speculation would have us believe.

For instance, the prime minister of North Vietnam in an interview with Harrison Salisbury of The New York Times gave the greatest boost to the optimists by saying that his standard demand for the departure of U.S. troops from Vietnam was not a condition to be fulfilled before talks could begin; nor should one assume that he was setting a precondition in demanding that the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the communist guerrillas, govern South Vietnam after the peace. The North Vietnamese prime minister said that these demands represented "valid conclusions" for discussion not preconditions. "Conclusions" are obviously considered more hopeful than "preconditions".

Simultaneously, we are informed that the secretary general of the UN has found the North Vietnamese prepared to listen to his peace plan whose first point is that the U.S. should stop bombing, after which U. Thant will go to Hanoi to see what he can get there in the way of reciprocal "de-escalation" before talks begin.

The statements of the North Vietnamese premier in combination with U. Thant's plan could simply mean that what Hanoi wants is an end to the bombings, in exchange for which it will stop sending regular troops south, and then have talks at which the Americans will be afforded the choice of either resuming hostilities or accepting North Vietnam's "valid conclusions" which amount to political capitulation for the U.S.

LETTER TO EDITOR

GLENMORE PROBLEM

Sir: For many months, numerous residents have been concerned about having a sidewalk constructed on Glenmore Road. This sidewalk is partially completed from Dr. Knox Clinic to Benny's BA; but there is no sidewalk from the service station to Matheson Elementary School. This is where a sidewalk is needed most yet the city has failed to comply. All school children going to the Matheson School must use Glenmore Road, which is so narrow that all persons walking are taking great risks of being hit by a passing vehicle.

For the number of people using this part of road, it is only wise to have a sidewalk constructed. There is considerable traffic using it and some innocent child will be seriously injured or killed eventually.

If a sidewalk could be installed in other less urgent areas of our city, then the minimum the city can do is to comply with this simple plan. No doubt, the city officials will tell us that they are having enormous difficulties to acquire the needed land. And if they are, may I say to any person or persons, that are not willing to sell the needed area to the city, that they may be the indirect cause of a child's death.

Perhaps even their own children may be one of the innocent victims. If the city cannot afford to answer this request, then it is lamentable. For if this badly needed sidewalk is not made available for use in a short time, more lives will be risked and the chance of permanent injury to our children being killed will be raised. How much do you care for your child's safety? If you are concerned, then please take action immediately; for only if we as residents express our urgent needs will they be recognized.

CANADA'S STORY

French And Indians Slew Women, Children

By BOB ROWMAN

A recent story described how Count Frontenac was sent to Canada in 1699 to be governor for the second time. His instructions among other objectives, were to drive the English out of North America. Frontenac quickly organized raids on settlements in New England, and one of the worst massacres took place on January 16, 1694.

The objective was Oyster River near present-day Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and the raid was under the command of Claude de Villieu who had great influence with the Indians. Although a number of the tribes along the Atlantic coast had been changing their allegiance to the English instead of to the French, Villieu knew how to create jealousy among them and prevent them from becoming united.

He gathered a force of French and 230 Indians, and was in position to attack Oyster River early in the morning of Jan. 16. There were only a dozen fortified houses in the community and the others were unprotected. It was no contest. Before the slaughter ended, 104 citizens of Oyster River, mostly women and children, had been killed by bullets or tomahawks. Twenty homes were burned, and then part of Villieu's force went on to attack nearby Groton, where another 40 people were killed.

Governor Villieu of Acadia later reported to Frontenac: "This stroke will break off all talk of peace between the English and the Indians." Then he went on to boast that the English were in despair because "not even infants in the cradle were spared."

Actually the attacks on New England settlements had the opposite effect. The English hit back, and gradually the English were in a position to "not even infants in the cradle were spared."

Construction Industry Now Panting For Breath

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's vital construction industry, running fast during the last six years of strong over-all growth, found itself panting for breath in 1966.

Now, the question is whether it will get its second wind in 1967 or have to pause for a breather.

While 1966 figures still are not complete, it appears likely the industry's total business will fall short of early predictions.

It had been expected the total value of construction in 1966 would rise 14 per cent to $11,200,000,000 from 1965's $9,900,000,000.

By December, however, some industry sources were suggesting the increase would be only 10 per cent, to $10,900,000,000.

No matter which figure is closer, a disturbing factor for the industry is that half the improvement comes from higher prices — so the real gain will amount to only five to seven per cent, well under the 10-per-cent-a-year increase the Economic Council of Canada says is needed.

Tight-money policies instituted to curb inflationary pressures have been blamed generally for the uncertainties that have developed in the industry, especially in housing.

PREDICTS INCREASE

But many businessmen have said concern about the squeeze on corporate profits, rising costs and taxation is causing a serious re-examination of a lot of projects that had been scheduled for a go-ahead signal.

Despite these factors, Armand Trotter of Quebec City, president of the Canadian Construction Association, has predicted a further increase for the industry in 1967 because demand continues strong in all categories.

He told an economic outlook seminar at the University of Toronto in late November that construction spending in 1967 would probably reach about $12,000,000,000, a gain of seven to nine per cent.

Again, however, about half would be eaten up by higher prices, and in making the prediction Mr. Trotter noted wryly that construction men by nature are born optimists.

Hardest hit by tight money has been the housing segment of the industry. Bank of Canada statistics show that, to the end of August, housing starts had dropped to 86,100 from 97,600 in the similar 1965 period.

INTEREST RATES UP

For all of 1966, starts are expected to total only about 135,000 units, compared with 166,000 in 1965.

Sparked in part by a late-year increase in the interest rate on mortgages under the National Housing Act to 7½ per cent from 6½, some improvement in the picture is forecast for 1967.

Not much, however—only about 20,000 additional starts are expected in 1967; although economists generally agree Canada needs at least 200,000 a year.

The third annual review of the economic council, published in November, pinpointed housing as a dangerous pressure spot in the economy, warning that housing shortages could become acute in several metropolitan areas and that rising rents following the lack of accommodations could become a powerful factor in rising living costs.

Predictions about construction's course in 1967 have been carefully hedged with talk of the uncertainties involved.

Pessimists point to the anticipated continuation of tight money for some months, an end of Expo 67 and centennial spending and a cautious assessment of immediate business prospects in some sectors as factors indicating a slowdown.

Others, however, note generally buoyant demand, with particularly strong leads coming from major power developments such as Churchill Falls and the Nelson River.

They also argue that the end of such major jobs as Expo will merely free badly needed resources for use in other areas.

Whatever the outcome, 1967 probably will see a renewed emphasis on building some effective long-term planning into the industry so its growth rate will achieve a more stable pattern, instead of swinging violently from trough to peak as it has in the past.

That was an important part of the economic council's third review and it hit a tender nerve in the industry. "There's been a lot of talk about this before," says one construction official. "But every time we were either in a recession and so worried we couldn't think about anything else, or in a boom and so busy we didn't have time to think about anything else."

Paris-Bonn Upon Brink Of 'New Era'

PARIS (AP)—West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger predicted a new era in Franco-German relations today and said he was "very happy" with the results of his talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

"We have reanimated the Franco-German co-operation treaty," he said. "Co-operation between France and Germany is destined to surmount the division in Europe and thus create a just order for peace," Kiesinger told reporters.

He also said close French-German ties would help solve the German problem. It was presumed he meant German reunification.

Kiesinger said: "Our conversations were very realistic. We examined a certain number of subjects on a practical level and we studied in depth, notably, the problems of Europe and East-West relations in order to know if French policy could help the Federal Republic (West Germany) to realize her wishes to better her relations with the countries of the East."

SCENE FROM LES FEUX FOLLETS

A scene from Les Feux-Follets' colorful program of Canadian folklore. The breathtaking beauty of the group's basic program "The Canadian Mosaic" is a two-hour panorama of songs and dances ranging from the rigs and reels of Nova Scotian Highlanders, and a choreographed walrus hunt, to the ceremonial dances of the Plains and West Coast Indians; from the songs and dances of the French Acadians and the dance hall girls of the Klondike gold rush days to the ethnic culture of Canada's European settlers.

Canadian Mosaic Threads Through Evening of Dance

Coming to the Kelowna Community Theatre Jan. 31, at 8:30 p.m. is the dance company of Les Feux-Follets. The group, which is available from coast to coast as part of the Centennial project Festival Canada on Tour, a project of a magnitude never attempted before in Canada, is being sponsored by the Centennial Committee and The Bay.

In the two years since they became professional the company has packed houses in Paris, won raves in Europe and the U.S., played for the Hubert Humphrey in Washington.

The term "feux-follets" is idiomatic French Canadian. It doesn't exist in France, but only in early Canadian legend — a term like pixies or goblins, little spirits full of fun, who entertained the early settlers with their pranks.

They are very much a Canadian product of our lonely wilderness, and they are kept alive today by a unique dance company that has moved beyond the borders of French Canada to keep alive the playfulness, the dance and story, the peculiar sociability of our isolated peoples from seas to sea.

There is a thread that moves through all of this evening of dance — The Canadian Mosaic, as it is called — and it is the spirit of Canadian people anywhere, faced with ruggedness and isolation from coast to coast. It is a unique theatrical experience in North America — in the world.

The measure of this company is contained in two little stories. In 1963, the great Virsky, director of the Ukrainian State Ensemble, spoke in Montreal to Michel Cartier, now 33, the creator and artistic director of Les Feux-Follets. At that time the company was doing principally French-Canadian and European folk dances under the sponsorship of Montreal Mayor Drapeau's Parks and Recreation Department.

Cartier, who had travelled Europe collecting dances, an education in the history and techniques of the dance, and costumes when he could beg, borrow or steal them, asked Virsky if he could spare some costumes.

Virsky's reply was blunt: "Why aren't you doing your own material? Something authentically Canadian? There is no distinction in borrowing."

Cartier was stung by the challenge. His immediate response was: "It's impossible. There is no Canadian culture."

But the challenge had been made, and it began a most extraordinary detective chase — across the country, through libraries, museums, at clan and tribal meetings, living with the Indians and Eskimo, a chase that ended with a man who believes he has found it — the Canadian spirit, the thread running through "the Canadian mosaic".

The second story took place in 1965, one year after the company had turned professional. Cartier had an opportunity to speak to Moiseyev, creator of the world-famous Russian Moiseyev Dancers. He got a brush-off, but he challenged Moiseyev to watch his company in a special performance three days later.

"We sat him right in the middle, right in front. We had never worked so hard to prepare. We never danced better," says Cartier.

The result? Igor Moiseyev reported to the world that the Feux-Follets "can take its place now with the best, the very best, in the world; they are great. I, Moiseyev, do not exaggerate. I know."

The evening moves in rhythm, not only across the country but across time, starting with the slow rhythms of early dance and moving toward the jazz rhythms of the modern discotheque, moving from the ritual religious ceremony of the West Coast Indians, to the square dance of the plains and the jigs, reels, fiddlers of the Scottish, Irish, Acadians, and Quebecois.

It is spectacularly colorful. Cartier has taught his girls Indian beadwork, the featherwork of the Plains Indians, and he himself is a wood sculptor making replicas of brilliantly hued B.C. Indian masks.

His 36 dancers, all youthful, his eight singers, 13 musicians, though many are ballet-trained or classical singers and musicians, have had to learn a whole new authentic Canadian context, new annotations, to catch a panorama, an essence stretching across time and space which gives us the history of Canada. They come not just from Quebec, but from across the country, and are of a variety of backgrounds.

Cartier, a young man though he is, is a Canadian of considerable vision. Not only has he created, by energetic drive, by sheer bluffer, a dance company of the first rank, but he sees beyond this moment.

"I don't see what we are doing, in recapturing our heritage, as an end in itself. It tells us what our roots are, what we have to be proud of that is our own. Having caught it, it will reformat form the basis, the context of the true Canadian symphony, the true Canadian Opera, the true Canadian play."

Throngs Flock To Florence To Attend Fashion Shows

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Business is booming, to judge from the throngs who have converged on Florence for the spring and summer fashion shows.

The biggest crowds ever came flocking to Pitti Palace, where the presentations began Friday night.

The three days of showing began with a handful of boutique houses plus two specializing in knitwear. Styles varied from knits to Eskimo-thick knits, but the colors were predominantly sunny with all the yellows, tangerine and bright fresh green.

Lydie de Roma showed calf-length cotton dresses with a pure, preraphaelite look emphasized by the models' bare feet.

Waists tied high and sleeve and yokes carried appliques or exquisite flower embroidery. There was more clever needlework on white cotton minishirts with petal-pointed skirts. Lydia showed a group of what the program calls sophisticated linens — shirt shapes and smocks in white, olive or ocre with sleeves and yokes finely embroidered.

MIXES STRIPES, FLOWERS — She mixed Arab stripes with flowers on loose denim gowns once again with embroidered sleeves. A delicious dress in grapefruit yellow had a whole herbarium border blossoming down the sleeves.

Centuca-laria used brightly colored cool to add an extra embroidered layer to inch-thick cable-knit sweaters and flirts. By contrast, their flat knit suits in stained-glass colored squares on orange magenta and olive were patterned with precise little poises in fine-wool. ANN LANDERS

Adhesive Wife Cures Husband Of Jealousy

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to help the woman with the jealous husband. Mine was like that, too, and for absolutely no reason. Finally I asked him to tell me why he was so suspicious. He replied, "Because I'm insecure. You don't pay enough attention to me."

That evening he asked me to listen for the telephone while he took a bath. I told him to heck with the telephone. I wanted to keep him company. I perched myself on the rim of the tub and described My Day. (I ignored his sighs of boredom). After his bath he went to the den to read the newspaper and I curled up in his lap and stayed there until he asked me to please get off because I was getting heavy. Then I insisted that he come to the kitchen and keep me company while I did the dishes.

The next day I telephoned him at work three times to say I was lonesome for him and to please come straight home. He said he'd be home at 6:15. When he arrived at 6:25 I asked him why he was late. I said I was worried.

For one solid week I carried on this absurd routine, until finally he asked me to leave him alone. I told him I was only trying to make him feel secure. He said, "I am so secure now I am suffocating. Please get off my back."

Things are normal once more and I no longer see a single trace of jealousy. — VICTORIOUS

Dear Vic: Thanks for letting us in on the Great Experiment. The wife with adhesive qualities does not make her husband feel secure, she merely underscores her own insecurity. Moreover, she displays a sorry lack of confidence which can cause bitter resentment. Too many people never learn that the surest way to put out a fire is to smother it.

Bucks Take Easy Win And Broncos Stop Blades

Kelowna Buckaroos took an easy 6-1 victory from the Kamloops Kraft Kings Saturday evening in Kamloops. The Kelowna win failed to change the Okanagan Mainline Junior Hockey League standings, as the Vernon Blades lost their seventh game in a row. Pentiction Broncos held off a third period Vernon attack to win 9-7.

Kamloops fans didn't have too much to cheer about Saturday evening in Kamloops, as the visiting Buckaroos turned on only enough steam to whip the Kamloops crew. Dave Cousins and Butch Deadmarsh each scored twice to lead the Bucks to the lopsided win.

Drew Kitch opened the game at 2:25 of the first period, tipping in a pass from Mike Darnbrough and Wayne Olson. Kamloops tried to make a comeback of the game by tying the score at 3:40 of the second period on a goal by Don Clovechok.

REX RIDEOUT comes close

Kelowna turned on a little more steam and slammed in three unanswered goals in the second period adding two more in the third.

Cousins netted the first of his two and Deadmarsh scored two in the second period. To finish the scoring and the Kraft Kings' hopes, Keith Boquist and Cousins scored in the final frame.

In Vernon, Wayne Schaab scored three goals, followed by Gene Peacock and Jim O'Neill with two each. Pentiction singles were scored by Ray Picco and Dan Connors. For Vernon it was Lawrence Quechuck with three and Tom Serviss, Jeff Wilson, Tom Williamson and Ivan Malinovsky with singles.

Rex Rideout was the victim of a defensive lapse in trying to register his first OMJHL shutout. Kamloops' Clovechok let go a slapshot from about 20 feet out. Terry Strong dropped in front of the puck and blocked the shot. Strong's partner on defence failed to clear the rebound and Kamloops had their only goal, while Rideout lost his shutout chances.

"I should have stopped the shot," said Rideout after the game, "but things seem to happen that way... I come close and then..."

Kelowna is at home Tuesday evening to the league leading Pentiction Broncos in the next OMJHL game.

Bob Goalby 'Ready To Charge' At Golfing's Top Money Men

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bob Goalby, fresh from his victory in the $66,000 San Diego open golf tournament, says he is ready to make a charge at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper.

"I feel I am solidly back on my game," Goalby said Sunday evening, winning with a 77-hole score of 289, 15 under par.

Starting the final round with a bulging five-shot lead over the field, Goalby saw his advantage quickly erased by a rallying Gay Brewer Jr.

Instead of folding, Goalby took matters in hand and sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the 71st hole to go one stroke ahead and then, after hitting his tee shot into a trap on the 207 yard par-three finishing hole, he made a magnificent explosion to within 3 1/2 feet to save his skin.

He finished with a 69 for 289 while Brewer, six strokes back at the start of the day, closed with a 64 for 270. The victory, first in four years by Goalby, was worth $12,200.

TOP MEN ABSENT

The field in the Open did not contain the game's two biggest names—Palmer and Nicklaus—but the field included P.G.A. champion Al Geiberger and Casper, U.S. Open winner and the 1966 Golfer of the Year.

Bob Charles of New Zealand, former British Open champion, finished third at 273, followed by Geiberger and Dave Hill tied at 274. Casper, improving with every round, climaxed his tournament with a 66 for 275, tying Randy Glover, Ronnie Reif and Pete Brown.

Bill Ezink, former hockey player with Toronto Maple Leafs, shot a 67 on the 185 round to gain a 10th-place tie with seven others. He won $1,336. George Knudson of Toronto and Al Johnston of Montreal were eliminated Friday.

Two Wins For Seals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The California Seals spent the weekend consolidating their lead in the Western Hockey League, beating the hapless San Diego Gulls twice, 5-2 Saturday night and 4-3 Sunday.

In the only other weekend outing, the Victoria Maple Leafs trounced the Los Angeles Blades 6-1 in Victoria Saturday night.

The result of the weekend activity left California in second spot, with 44 points, 11 behind Portland. Vancouver is first with 49, followed by Seattle with 39, Victoria with 37, Los Angeles with 33 and San Diego with 22.

In Sunday's game, Wayne Maxner's 10-foot backhand in a sudden death overtime situation gave California the win.

Other California goals came from Charlie Burns, Danny Bule and Tom Thurlby. Warren Hynes, Len Haley and Eddie Ehrenverth replied for San Diego.

In Saturday's tilt, Maxner, Belisle and George Swarbrick led the Seals attack with a goal and an assist each. Other California goals came from Jerry Odrovsky and Forbes Kennedy. San Diego's goals came from Larry McNabb and Hynes.

At Victoria, Milan Marcetta and Andy Heberton each scored twice for the Maple Leafs and others came from Mike Laughton and Rolfe Wilcox. Norm Johnson got the lone Los Angeles goal.

Flash Plans To Retire

MANILA (AP)—Flash Elorde, the one-time world champion who became a millionaire through his ring earnings and investments, said Saturday he definitely will retire from boxing this year.

"I may not fight any more," said the world junior lightweight champion, "but if I do it will be at the most two more title defenses."

Elorde won the 130 pound division title nearly seven years ago and has defended it 10 times. He will be 32 March 25.

The New York Athletic Commission ordered Elorde retired for his own good after he was knocked out in the 14th round by lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz in New York last Nov. 28.

It was the first time in a 17-year ring career that the game Filipino had been floored and counted out.

Goaltenders In NHL Limelight As Giacomini Earns Sixth Shutout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ed Giacomini of New York Rangers showed how with his sixth shutout of the season as goaltenders started Sunday night in the National Hockey League.

Giacomini, such a dismal failure with the Rangers last season that he was shipped to the minors, blanked Detroit Red Wings in a 2-0 Ranger win. He stopped 27 shots and reduced his goals-against average to 2.24.

Rookie Gary Bauman of Montreal Canadiens showed his first NHL appearance, stopping 19 shots in the first and second periods as the Montrealers downed Boston Bruins 3-1.

Bobby Hull struck again against the Leafs, scoring twice for a season goal total of 20-11 in the last six games. Ed Van Impe and Stan Mikita scored the other Chicago goals.

SCORE FOR RANGERS

Bob Nevin and Harry Howell scored for New York. Howell hitting an empty net with six seconds to go after Giacomini had made Nevin's first-period goal stand up.

Dick Duff, Claude Provost and Ted Harris scored for Montreal and John Bucyk for Boston.

In Saturday's action, the Bruins shaded the Canadiens 4-4, the Black Hawks beat the Rangers 5-2 and Toronto trounced the Red Wings 5-2.

Tom Williams led the Boston attack Saturday with two goals and assists on goals by Bucyk and Murray Oliver. Pit Martin also scored for Boston. Dick Duff scored two Montreal goals and John Ferguson and Claude Larose the others.

In the Chicago win over New York, Bobby Hull scored one as did Dennis Hull. Chico Maki

Doug Mohns and Mikita. Red Gilbert scored two for the Rangers and Orland Kurtenbach one.

Ron Ellis led the Leafs to victory over the Red Wings, scoring two. The others came from Frank Mahovlich, Dave Keon and Larry Jeffrey. Don Prentice and Norm Ullmar scored for Detroit.

STOPS THE STARS

Giacomini's best saves Sunday were on breaking up Paul Henderson, Andy Bathgate and Gordie Howe.

Giacomini played them all perfectly to lead the Rangers to their second victory in three games on a five-game road trip. He blanked the Bruins 3-0 in Boston Thursday night.

The Red Wings swarmed around the league's top goaltender throughout most of the third period but he robbed them time and again.

The Rangers had 21 shots at Detroit's Roger Crozier and Nevin beat him at 6:44 of the first period.

The Black Hawks had only 27 shots at Giacomini Saturday night but they made five of them, counting on a 4-1 lead before the Rangers scored. The Rangers had 33 shots at Glenn Hall.

DEJORDY SHARP

The Maple Leafs had only 25 shots at Detroit Sunday night, but he was particularly sharp with a point-blank shot from Jeffrey and he made a diving save against Keon in the third period.

Hull's three goals in Chicago's two weekend games made him tops in the league and four more than New York's Gilbert. Mikita's pair of weekend goals boosted the little centre's points total to 55 for the season, including a league-leading 36 assists.

The Hawks fired 35 shots at Toronto goalie Bruce Gamble. The Leafs had an easier night Saturday night against the Red Wings, who have only one tie and no wins in 19 road games this year.

The Maple Leafs led 2-1 at the end of the first period and increased their lead to 4-1 after two periods.

GOAL NO. 271

Mahovlich's goal was the 271st of his career and moved him into sole possession of 12th place on the list of all-time NHL scorers. Toronto pair of weekend goals boosted the little centre's points total to 55 for the season, including a league-leading 36 assists.

The Hawks fired 35 shots at Toronto goalie Bruce Gamble. The Leafs had an easier night Saturday night against the Red Wings, who have only one tie and no wins in 19 road games this year.

The Maple Leafs led 2-1 at the end of the first period and increased their lead to 4-1 after two periods.

The Canadiens had 43 shots at Boston's Gerry Cheevers while the Bruins managed only 19 shots at Charlie Hodge.

Bauman, 26, who replaced Hodge Sunday was called up from Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League.

The Rangers and the Black Hawks are tied for first place in the standings with 47 points apiece. The Leafs are third with 42 points, six more than the fourth-place Canadiens.

Detroit is fifth with 29 points and the Bruins are last with 25 points.

The schedule resumes Thursday with Toronto at Detroit and Chicago at Boston. On Wednesday, the league's all-stars will take on the Canadiens, defending league and Stanley Cup champions, in Montreal in the annual All-Star game.

AFL Chiefs Don't Rate In NFL Tough Department

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vince Lombardi thinks Kansas City Chiefs simply don't rate with the top teams in the National Football League after watching his Green Bay Packers whip the American Football League champs in Sunday's first Super Bowl game.

"They have a good football team with fine speed but I'd have to say that NFL football is tougher," said coach Lombardi, following the Packers' 35-10 victory before a disappointing crowd of 63,036 in the 93,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum.

But at the halfway point of the game the Packers looked nothing like the poised and polished champions of the NFL. For two surprising quarters the Chiefs, champions of the AFL, played as if they were equals of the battle-proven Packers, who ended the half clinging to a precarious 14-10 lead.

In the second half the Packers manhandled Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, and dominated play by a 21-0 edge.

Willie Wood's interception of a Dawson pass early in the third quarter was the first indication that the Packers were aroused.

FAIL IN FIRST

In the first half they had failed to put pressure on Dawson and let him scramble around.

Wood rambled 50 yards to the Chiefs' five after picking off the pass that was deflected by Lee Roy Caffey. Elijah Pitts went in on the next play and the Packers were on the way.

Bart Starr had a tremendous day, picking out receivers or calling the right ball carrier in important third-down situations. Of 14 third-down calls in the game, Starr produced first downs 11 times. He was named the most valuable player of the game and winner of a special sports car award by a magazine.

Starr threw two touchdown passes to 34-year-old Max McGee, who caught only four passes during the regular season.

MISSING FIELD GOAL

Mike Mercer, who missed with a 40-yard field goal attempt in the first period, made good from 30 yards out in the dying seconds of the first half.

The Chiefs never got closer than the Packers' 44 in the second half and that was after Pete Beathard had taken over for Dawson at quarterback. Dawson wound up with 16 for 27 for 211 yards. The two Kansas City quarterbacks were dumped six times for 61 yards, trying to pass.

son. The 11-year-veteran led the receivers with seven for 138 yards including the scoring plays of 37 and 13 yards.

On most of his catches, the victim was Willie Mitchell, a corner back singled out for special attention in the Packers' game plan.

McGee got into the game when Boyd Dowler the regular flanker, injured his right shoulder on the third play.

Starr completed 16 of 23 for 250 yards and two TDs but also had one intercepted by Mitchell his first in 173 tosses since Oct. 16. He also had a 64-yard touch-down pass to Carroll Dale called back because of a penalty.

Jim Taylor, who still has no signed his 1966 contract and may have played his last game for the Packers, stormed home from the 14 in the second period.

Pitts, who took Paul Hornung's place, scored twice from the five and one. Hornung, suffering from a pinched nerve in his neck but supposedly available for duty, did not get into the game.

Dawson hit with 11 of 15 passes, including a seven-yarder to Curt McClinton for a touchdown.

That lies within our hearts concealed.

Our smiles hide all the while."

Pass Pass 1♥ Dble

Pass Pass

Dble

Opening lead—five of hearts.

This deal occurred in the match between Italy and the United States in 1963. It features sensational defense by

Benito Garozzo, world-famous

Italian star playing with his favorite partner, Pietro Forquet.

The American declarer, Robert

Nail, arrived at four spades doubled on the sequence shown.

Four spades was actually a good contract, but was doomed to failure when it developed that the trumps were divided 4-1.

West led a heart and Garozzo won with the ace and returned a trump. Nail took the return with the ace and played a diamond to the queen. Garozzo making the first of two fine plays when he followed with the deuce.

Declarer then led the eight of diamonds, Garozzo following this time with the three. South naturally assumed that West had the ace, and was faced with the problem of deciding whether

West had started with the doubleton ace of diamonds or three to the ace.

He knew that Forquet had started with four spades and probably four hearts, and that there was consequently a good chance of his having only two diamonds. Assuming this to be true, it followed that East had four diamonds to the ten and that it would be necessary to finess the nine to save a trick.

So Nail finessed the nine, which lost to the ten, and Forquet returned a trump to defeat

the contract two tricks—500 points.

Garozzo knew he could not lose the ace of diamonds by ducking twice, and he also knew that Nail might go wrong if he was missing either the jack or king. Garozzo had everything to gain and nothing to lose by ducking twice.

At the second table, the Italian North-South pair also got to four spades doubled, but went down only one when East took the ace of diamonds at the first opportunity.

In fact, the weeks between April 15th and May 15th will be a highly profitable period for Capricornians on practically all fronts.
